Tim King will Present

GETTING TO GRIPS WITH the GC RULES

Title: Getting to grips with the GC Rules

Description: A course for those wanting to become referees, existing referees and coaches.

Duration: Four weekly modules, each of 75 minutes.

Course outline:

Session 1: key philosophical elements of the Rules; a role-based perspective; the Rules from a game-focused perspective.

Sessions 2 to 4: key areas of confusion from results using three tranches of practice question sets covering the whole Rules; potential future improvements of the Rules.

Each week during the course (i.e. before sessions 2 to 4), the participants will be expected to have spent 1.5 to 2 hours answering practice question sets on the Rules (i.e. a total of about 5.5 hours by the end of the course). These question sets will be available online and will provide instant feedback on the parts of the Rules that the participant does not understand.

The course will not go into detail on the craft of being a referee (this is the purpose of separate courses for referees) but will explore key areas of the Rules to build the core basis for refereeing and also highlight those elements that determine the decision making opportunities in GC that coaches should be teaching to their students.

The Course is to be held as a Zoom Conferencing Call every Thursday during June (starting on 4th) at 6:00 pm

The Course is limited to twelve participants.

Fee: £38 for the four modules
